The word Essay means an attempt. So an essay must always be the attempt of the writer to express his own thoughts, ideas, and feelings. The students must never forget that his essay must be an expression of his own minds. What the lyric is to poetry that the essay is in prose. In its own way, an essay is as much a work of art as a picture is. Like a picture, it must have unity of design, the proportion of parts and consistency of coloring. If it does not possess the character of artistic unity, it is not a true essay.

The language of these essays is very simple and easy to understand. There are different types of essays topics for the nursery, kg classes, primary, middle, secondary, high, inter and bachelor and school-level examinations. For the students of 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th, 5th classes, we have short essays and for 6th, 7th, 8th-grade students we have comprehensive essays. Further informative argumentative essay topics are present here for 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th students. College students can also get persuasive, narrative and interesting ideas for preparations of their exams.
The writing of an essay in English is one of the most difficult tasks for Pakistani student to undertake. Our problem is how to translate our thoughts and feelings into correct and living English. Most students complain that they have no material for a topic. Some are shy, while others approach their teacher for guidance. The only guidance that a teacher can give his student is that he should read, search, think and practice writing. Also sometimes students feel that there is nothing to say about a subject and this is attributed to lack of experience and general reading. Therefore, if one wants to write a good essay, one must acquire the habit of reading. As all knowledge does not come from books, we should observe and learn much from life around us. We can also improve the skill of writing essays by conversing with others.

Hence we should discuss subjects that interest us, with our friends and listen to people’s conversation and should make them talk to us about the things they know.
